Plane Wreckage Found, Nine Bodies Found

By BUCK BUCHWACH
HONOLULU, Nov. 14 (INS)—The wreckage of the Pan American Stratocruiser that disappeared last Friday with 44 persons aboard was found in the mid-Pacific today and nine bodies were sighted at the scene.

The smashed luxury airliner was spotted by the pilot of a low-flying S2F search plane from the carrier Philippine Sea at a point 1,015 miles east of Honolulu.

The Philippine Sea and the destroyer Ronshaw were sent speeding to the scene immediately.

There was as yet no report as to whether any survivors were in the vicinity of the downed Stratocruiser "Romance of the Skies."

The carrier plane pilot, who first discovered the Stratocruiser wreckage reported back by radio he had found bodies one of them strapped in a seat from the airliner.

U. S. Farm Role Defined as Cooperation

CHICAGO (UP)—Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) defined the ideal government role in farm programs as one of cooperation rather than domination Wednesday night.

Such tools as will help farmers improve their methods, markets and standards of living should be provided by government, Aiken told the 43rd annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Assn.

The farmers also heard the views of Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss.) who said the government has means to alleviate the surpluses of farm commodities wheat, corn, cotton, and soybeans.

On the other hand, he said, farmers should be "instinctively suspicious of any proposal that leads in the direction of more comprehensive government direction of any responsibility to the business of producing and marketing farm products."

Eastland's address was read by his administrative assistant, Sam Thompson, when illness prevented the senator from appearing.

Government maintenance of minimum price supports is necessary, Aiken said, until such time as surpluses can be brought within "reasonable bounds."

He said previous government programs have resulted in distorting a normal supply and demand situation. Restoration of the functions of basic economic laws require patience and caution, he said.

Aiken said, however, there are several things which are not the responsibility of government to agriculture. The government "does not owe the farmer a satisfactory income regardless of whether a normal unit of an economic producing unit, and the government should be responsible only to farm programs which benefit the nation as a whole."

Eastland said one of the government's responsibilities is keeping open "the channels of international trade for the disposition of farm products."

Without the expansion in farm exports in recent years, he said, the agricultural situation at present would be "immeasurably more critical."

PSC to Resume Franchise Hearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission planned to resume a hearing today on a proposed formula which would fix city franchise rates for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The proposal was submitted by the firm and initial testimony was given last month. It is based on the number of telephones within a city and a percentage of the revenue Southwestern Bell derives from them.

Seven communities in Arkansas now assess franchise taxes which are higher than the firm would have to pay if the PSC approves the formula. The municipalities are Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, El Dorado, Menard, Harrisburg and Gurdin.

More than 75 cities in the state now charge about the same or less than the formula allows.

Rain, Roads, Flu Close Schools

NEWPORT (UP)—Schools were closed here yesterday by "Combination of bad roads caused by heavy rains and the flu."

Supt. G. F. Castelberry said about 25 per cent of the school district's pupils were out. He said classes would re-open Monday.

Professor Is Called to Garbage Probe

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Don (The Professor) Modica, who witnesses say tutors gangsters' sons in mathematics and the social sciences, was called today to testify about New York's garbage disposal racket.

The special Senate committee investigating rackets announced it wants to quiz him about his associations with Albert Anastasia, the recently slain executioner for Murder, Inc., and with Vincent J. (Jimmy) Squillante, alleged Mafia mobster described as Anastasia's godson.

Witnesses have named Anastasia's son Umberto as one of Modica's pupils.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Modica and Squillante's brother Nunzio will be important witnesses about racketeering and gunplay in the 50 million dollar a year business of hauling garbage from business places and homes in the New York area.

Vincent Squillante is scheduled to testify tomorrow.

The committee has heard testimony about murders, beatings and arson which Chairman Mr. C. C. (D-Ark) contends marked Vincent Squillante's rise to power as head of a veritable "business empire" in garbage rackets.

Modica was described by Kennedy as a shadowy figure in underworld circles, a doctor of philosophy, and once a "respected member of the New York University faculty. The committee has placed in evidence a staff report that Modica has a record of "convictions for grand larceny and other crimes" and serves as a tutor to children of big shots among crime "syndicate mobsters."

Sputnik May Circle Globe for a Year

By LEWIS BULLICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. scientists say that Russia's second satellite may continue circling the earth for a year or more.

Some earlier though among scientists at the Naval Research Laboratory was that the half-ton Sputnik II might plunge earthward earlier than Sputnik I. There have been predictions the first satellite, a small sphere, will fall out of orbit Dec. 11.

The scientists said Sputnik II is apparently slowing down more gradually than they previously believed.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the U. S. space satellite program, Project Vanguard, said American scientists are "now pretty close" to asking that the launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Florida, be cleared for firing the first U. S. satellite test sphere.

Announced American plans call for launching small test spheres next month and firing the first fully developed satellite in March.

Not Work But Stress, Strain That Kills You

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone is familiar with the tired businessman, who returns home at the end of the day exhausted.

"You're working too hard," his friends tell him. "It's killing you."

But it isn't the work he does at the office that makes the tired businessman so tired. It's the stress and strains of mind and body he must undergo before he gets to the office.

It is said that former President Harry Truman prides himself on the fact he can rise, dress and be able to meet the problems of the day within 10 minutes.

The average business employee, however, isn't that efficient. Here is the schedule of our typical office hero after the alarm clock bugles him awake at 7 a.m.

Time spent covering under covers until wife comes and drags him out 10 minutes.

Solunar Fishing Tables of John Alden Knight to Begin in Hope Star This Saturday

The Solunar Tables compiled by John Alden Knight, which show the best hours that fish bite, every day in the year, will become a daily feature in Hope Star beginning this Saturday, Nov. 16. Following is an explanatory article from the releasing syndicate, Reelists & Tribune Syndicate of Des Moines, Iowa.

The Solunar Tables, upon which the SOLUNAR TABLES are based, first came into being in 1926. Briefly, it is simply an old bit of folklore to which has been applied the refinements of modern science.

Back in our grandfathers' time, the market hunters and fishermen had learned that fish and game were most active when the moon was directly overhead or directly underfoot. Their method of predetermining these activity periods was quite loose but the fact remains that the "moon up — moon down" rule did pay dividends for them in fish and game.

Using this rule as a basis for experimentation, we soon learned that there was more to the problem than "moon up—moon down."

The sun was brought into our calculations and gradually we learned to forecast a year in advance, a schedule of Solunar Periods that comes surprisingly close to the true schedule, as evidenced by fish and game themselves.

Printed above the published schedules you will find, in part, the following: "The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration." Perhaps this could do with some elaboration.

When we first began our observations of the workings of the Solunar Theory, we knew only of the two feeding and activity periods that occur daily approximately at the times when the moon is directly overhead or directly underfoot.

State Promised Some Relief From the Rain

By The Associated Press
A break in the 2-day downpour which caused widespread damage to Arkansas' unharvested crops was forecast today by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The outlook was for slow clearing this afternoon, turning partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow. Showers were predicted for Saturday.

Several points recorded above three inches of rain during the 24-hour period which ended at 7 a.m. today. Poinsettias had the heaviest amount, 3.81 inches. Jonesboro reported 3.73 inches and a total of 5.25 inches since Tuesday.

Other 24-hour measurements included: Augusta and Pine Bluff 3.65 inches, Newport 3.34, El Dorado 3.32, Walnut Ridge 3.23, Blytheville 3.04, Little Rock 2.13, and Memphis 1.99.

The state's rivers continued to rise. The Ouachita was expected to reach 23 feet, six feet above flood stage, at Arkadelphia Sunday. It was expected to top 33 feet Monday at Camden, where the flood stage is 28 feet.

The only other river predicted to crest above flooding was the White. A 22-foot crest was expected Nov. 20 at Georgetown, one foot above flood stage. At Newport, the White was forecast to be one foot below flooding Sunday.

Willie Mays Can't Buy a House

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays attempted to buy a house here failed yesterday.

The 27-year-old San Francisco Giants baseball centerfielder offered the $37,500 the owner asked for a new house on Miraloma Drive, but was turned down after a wait of several days. The owner said there was great neighborhood pressure against the deal, permitting a Negro to buy.

Walter A. Gnesdloff, who is still offering the house at the same price but not to Mays, said: "I'm just a union working man and I'd never get another job, if I sold this house to this baseball player. I feel sorry for him, and if the neighbors say it would be okay, I'd do it."

Gnesdloff, a small-scale builder and contractor, said two property owners he works for put pressure on him not to sell to Mays and neighbors objected by telephone.

"I've never been through this kind of stuff and I'm not even mad about it now," the normally exuberant Mays said last night.

"I'd sure like to live in San Francisco, but I didn't want to make an issue about it."

"I figure if a guy has his own problems he's got to lick them himself, and if neighbors don't want you, what's the good of buying," Mays continued.

"But talk about a thing like this goes all over the world and it sure looks bad for our country," Mays' wife, Marguerite, wasn't quite as philosophical about it.

"Down in Alabama where we come from," she said, "you know your place, and that's something at least. But up here it's all a lot of camouflage. They grin in your face and then deceive you."

Mayor George Christopher declared: "What's happened is not in accordance with San Francisco's traditions."

The mayor said "it's not our practice to oppress anyone's living where he wants to, regardless of his race." But he pointed out that "on the other hand, no law requires an owner to dispose of his property."

Ike Calls in Security Council to Talk Over Defense Spending Cost

Administration Cool to Standby Controls Law

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration gave a cool reception today to a proposal that Congress quickly enact a standby law providing wage price, credit and rationing controls.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) suggested the action yesterday at a two-day conference of 1,300 businessmen, members of the National Defense Executive Reserve.

Government officials attending the sessions indicated clearly, however, recommend nor request the standby power.

"Unquestionably the administration would accept standby authority if Congress voted it," one high mobilization official said, adding: "But we won't ask for it. This administration is committed to a policy of avoiding direct economic controls if possible."

He and others who commented along the same line declined to be quoted by name.

The reservists are business executives who have served in Washington and stand ready to return in event of mobilization.

Capehart told them that the perils now facing the country make it advisable to set up the legal framework for wartime economic regulation.

He said that although he abhors controls, there are "circumstances in which they are necessary to preserve our free enterprise system against the forces of panic and runaway inflation that inevitably come with great emergencies."

But Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said in an interview that "controls won't solve the problem."

"Every business man I have talked to agrees that the steam has gone out of inflation," he said. "By the time Congress convenes again I think we will have had at least one month when living costs have not gone up."

Bennett called instead for limited spending. He said that if more money is needed for missile development and other defense needs, as President Eisenhower said in a radio-TV talk last night, the extra amount "ought to be shaved off other activities to prevent deficit spending."

He said that pulling additional billions of dollars into missile development is not going to guarantee the United States will overwhelm Russia in this field.

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) said in a separate interview that if Congress permits the desire for a balanced budget to interfere with an all-out effort, this country is likely to lose the missile and satellite contests.

"If we can't wait to be the richest satellite of Russia, that is the way to proceed," he said.

Eisenhower did not mention controls but did make clear, in his speech from Oklahoma City last night, that defense spending will increase. New programs, he said, Continued on Page Two

Steals Car 3-Hours After Prison Release

JONESBORO (UP)—An Arkansas man released from prison in August will probably be back in time for Christmas.

William S. Riden, 33, of Marianna was picked up in Paragould yesterday afternoon less than three hours after he had stolen a car in downtown Jonesboro.

Police said Riden carried release papers from the Arkansas prison when he was picked up. The papers showed he was released in August after serving time for car theft in Lee County.

Officers said Riden got into one car in Jonesboro, threw it into reverse and stalled into another car. He left both cars and got into a third and drove to Paragould.

Ark-La Plans a New Plant at Magnolia

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. is planning construction of a three million dollar petrochemical plant near Magnolia, Board Chairman W. R. Stephens said today.

"Such a plant is already on the drawing boards of our engineering department," Stephens said in an address prepared for delivery to the Little Rock Rotary Club.

"Although there are a number of engineering factors to be solved, preliminary studies indicate that the plant is feasible," Stephens said.

He said that the primary product would be ethane, which he explained is a basic raw material in the manufacture of synthetic rubber, plastics and the like.

The speaker said that some 70,000 gallons of ethane would be extracted daily from national gas for sale to the plastics industry. The extraction also would involve 60,000 gallons of propane, 14,000 gallons of iso-butane and 13,000 gallons of butane all used primarily fuel where natural gas is not available, Stephens added.

The proposed plant would use a considerable volume of the company's off-peak gas, he said.

Ark-La already has a small gas extraction plant near Magnolia.

Stephens did not indicate where in the Magnolia area the proposed new plant would be situated.

Soldier Acquitted of Manslaughter

SEOUL (AP)—Cpl. Hugh L. Camp of St. Louis, Mo., was acquitted today of voluntary manslaughter charges arising from the fatal stabbing of Pfc. Nicolas Gracia, Ulysses, Kan.

Gracia died during a fight among several American soldiers in downtown Seoul Oct. 20. Camp's counsel contended during the four-day trial by general court-martial that the soldier acted in self-defense.

"Not enough people look him at his word," Eisenhower said in likening the situation then to the Russian threat today.

Nation Warned Missile Step-up Will Cost More

From Our Wire Services
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Eisenhower conferred with the National Security Council today on plans for a sharp step-up in military spending to meet the Soviet missile threat.

The discussion took place against a background of favorable reaction to Mr. Eisenhower's Oklahoma City speech last night, in which he proposed a "very considerable increase" in defense funds.

The chief executive also reviewed with the security council, the "non-essential" government programs which he said must be eliminated to help pay for adequate space-age weapons.

White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty said that details of the new military spending program will be worked out in a series of conferences with the budget bureau and the agencies involved.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—President Eisenhower last night warned the cost of space-age weapons means a "very considerable" boost in defense spending is coming and that Congress will have to face the tough task of cutting non-essential national programs.

He said Americans won't tolerate sacrificing security to the worship of a balance budget.

This impending boost will mean sharp cuts in some non-military spending programs in next year's budget to offset a part of the hike, he said.

Some of these programs, may have to be eliminated entirely, the President declared. He departed from his prepared text to add: "And pressure groups will wail in anguish."

In a nationwide television-radio address, the President also called for a stepped-up educational program of training scientists to meet the Russian threat. He suggested the program include such incentives as fellowship grants to provide more science teachers. But he did not go into detail on his suggestion.

He also called for greater concentration on basic research, saying "the warning lies in the fast rate of increase of the Soviet effort in that field of science."

Making the second of a series of "going up" talks designed to bolster United States confidence in free world defense capability, Eisenhower said Russia's challenge is being met and will continue to be met.

He cautioned that the Soviet Union's recent achievements in development of weapons of the future mean "there is danger ahead for free men everywhere."

The President, addressing an overflow audience in the 6,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, recalled that Nazi dictator Hitler once boasted he would bury the free world.

"Not enough people look him at his word," Eisenhower said in likening the situation then to the Russian threat today.

ly overhead or underfoot. These are what are now termed Major Periods. Unless weather conditions are unfavorable, fish and game begin to show increased activity at these times and this activity continues anywhere from an hour to as much as three hours thereafter. Closer inspection however, revealed that there were daily intermediate feeding and activity periods which occurred about midway between Major Periods and which lasted, usually about an hour. These we termed Minor Periods. While they are shorter than the Major Periods, the feeding and activity during their progress is every bit as intense as it is during the Major Periods, and it pays to keep track of them. "Minor Periods" does NOT mean that these are periods of INACTIVITY. Quite the contrary is true.

Of course, we all know that early morning and late evening—dawn and dusk—are times when fish and game are active. These are normal diurnal periods of activity, the times at which the night shift comes on and the night shift lays off or vice versa. No need for SOLUNAR TABLES to anticipate those two times of day. However, all of us who fish and shoot know that there are times between dawn and dusk—or dusk and dawn—when the fish feed actively and when there is plenty of game in the feeding covers. It is these times that the Solunar schedule will find for you if you will give it a chance to do so.

Another thing we know is that we do not have good fishing or good shooting every day we go out. Only when all conditions are favorable do we find those unusual days when we have good sport pretty much all day long. Stormy weather, a falling barometer, unfavorable temperatures, these and many more uncontrollable factors will ruin the fishing or the shooting and little can be done about it. However, there are times of each day when the quality of your sport, such as it may be, comes to a peak. The SOLUNAR TABLES will find these times for you and, more important, will tell you in advance just what time of each day to expect them. Thus, with the help of your SOLUNAR TABLES, it is possible to plan your days afield so that these times will not be wasted. Believe me, it pays to keep track of the daily Solunar Periods.

The first Soviet satellite was launched Oct. 4. The second one was sent up Nov. 3 with a small dog aboard. Radio equipment on both satellites now is dead and the dog, Laika, is believed to have died inside Sputnik II.

Moscow radio said last night that Russian scientists are sure Laika "was quite well and comfortable to the end." One Russian who took part in the dog's preflight training said there was no intention of returning Laika to earth.

At the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., officials said analyses of sighting reports indicate there may be five objects whirling around the globe.

They said three of these objects have been associated with Sputnik I—the primary satellite, its carrier rocket and possibly the rocket's nose cone.

"will involve substantial cost." This must be added to present spending for defense which cannot be cut substantially, he said.

"For that reason," he added, "the first thing is to search for other places to cut expenditures."

Eisenhower addresses the civilian reservists this afternoon. Vice President Nixon, Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense McElroy and Secretary of Commerce Weeks spoke in yesterday's daylong sessions.

Nixon reassured the reservists that, despite Soviet technological advances, "the United States and its allies are strong enough to meet and defeat any enemy on any field in the world."

He said the major Communist threat is not "overt aggression" but the Soviet cold war tactics of political and economic maneuver, propaganda and subversion.

This country chief reliance in countering the many-sided Russian offensive, he said is an adequate mutual assistance program including economic aid which enables free countries to defend themselves and maintain their independence.

AF Points to Striking Power of Big Planes

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today pointed to the record-setting flights of a jet tanker plane as evidence that its far-reaching striking power must not be downgraded in this dawning missile era.

The KC135 jet tanker hops to Buenos Aires and back were part of an apparent Air Force demonstration of strength and mobility.

There also were distance flights of bombers and fighters far into the Pacific, and a group of B52 intercontinental jet bombers stated on visit to Argentina.

The Being KC135 and its crew—headed by Gen. Curtis E. LeMay—received special welcome here yesterday after flying 5,204 miles from Buenos Aires in 11 hours, 5 minutes and 3 tenths of a second. This first nonstop jet flight between the Argentina capital and Washington was made at an average speed of 469.5 miles an hour.

This same ship and crew last Monday set a distance record for nonrefueled jet flight in streaking from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to Buenos Aires—a stretch of 6,325 miles—in 13 hours 2 minutes and 51 seconds. That flight was made over a longer range to underscore the plane's long reach.

LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, piloted the KC135 for much of both trips. He received the Distinguished Flying Cross at an airport ceremony on his arrival here. Other members and the tanker's crew also were decorated.

Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, said the achievement is "just one indication of the global capabilities" of the Air Force.

Secretary of the Air Force Douglas said the flight "is history today. It will be routine in a few years."

Death Toll From Flu Beyond 720

CHICAGO (UP) — The nation's death toll from flu and its complications climbed beyond the 720 mark, with three of the latest victims reported in Philadelphia.

The United Press counted at least 723 deaths blamed on flu and its after effects since the first invasion of Asian flu in this country last summer.

The three Philadelphia fatalities boosted that city's toll of flu-blamed deaths to 22 and the toll in Pennsylvania to 103.

Other hard-hit states included New York with 134 deaths, Georgia 82, and California and Michigan with 41 each.

German Prisoner to Be Deported

WASHINGTON (AP) — A German-born Chicagoan convicted of treason during World War II leaves a federal prison today for deportation to his native land. He can never return to the United States as a free man.

Immigration agents arranged to take the man, Hans Max Haupt, 63 from the federal reformatory at Danbury, Conn. where he was been imprisoned for the past 13 years. Haupt is to leave New York on a nonstop flight to Frankfurt, Germany.

Haupt was convicted of treason in 1944 for harboring his son, Herbert, a Nazi saboteur executed in 1942 after trial before a military commission here.

Atty. Gen. Rogers announced yesterday that President Eisenhower had commuted Haupt's life sentence to the time he already has served. Rogers said this was done only to send Haupt back to Germany. Haupt was naturalized in 1930, but he lost his citizenship when convicted of treason.

Herbert Haupt was one of eight Nazi agents captured after shipwrecking ashore from a German submarine. In all, six of the agents were electrocuted and two others drew prison sentences. These two later were sent back to Germany.

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time... with all America as the "track."

We didn't fiddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it carefully from place to place. Instead, we aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this car crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way across the country... passing through more than 1,200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes... creeping through city traffic... arrowing down super-highways... feeling its way through rutted detours. At the end, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out—and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive your self—today? You'll see what we mean.

That's the Plymouth "track"... and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murder's out route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in strength!

Star of the Forward Look... Plymouth ahead for keeps!

FIRST MASS PRODUCTION

Clocks and watches were the first industrial products to be mass produced on a large scale. Assembly lines, using interchangeable parts, were developed by New England factories more than 150 years ago.

When Elizabeth Barrett Browning completed writing her exquisite poems, "Sonnets from the Portuguese," she told her equally famous husband, Robert Browning, to tell them up if he did not like them.

ELEPHANT'S TRUNK

The trunk of an elephant is boneless, perfectly flexible and unbelievably strong, made up of a mass of tough, interwoven sinews and muscles.

day to offer his services as a space traveler.
"He says he wants to get up in a satellite so he can shoot down the Russian Sputniks," the spokesman said.

"I keep telling him the satellite is only 20 inches wide and he keeps insisting he is very small and he'll go on a diet."

A 13-year-old Georgia boy—apparently somewhat more hefty—wrote to the Pentagon he is ready to hop aboard a satellite if it is made larger.

A South Carolina airman wrote simply to Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy: "I'd like to be the first man to embark on so great an adventure in other space."

The Vanguard spokesman said none of the people who has contacted the Naval Research Laboratory about becoming spacemen has asked for pay of any kind.

"They just want to go as quick-ly as possible," he said.

Child Burned by 'Friends' of Mother

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—A 4-year-old girl was in fair condition in General Hospital today with cigarette burns on her body, arms and face. Her mother charged the burns had been inflicted by "friends" with whom she left the child while she looked for a new home in Missouri.

Little Ella Fay Willis was also suffering from two black eyes and severe bruises, doctors said.

Mrs. Allie Adams Willis, Springfield, Mo., said she left Ella with the friends at nearby Martinsville Ind., two months ago. She returned Wednesday and found the child locked in a pantry and covered with burns, she said.

"I just died when I saw her there. I just die whenever I think about it," the mother said.

Sheriff Victor Young said the couple with whom Ella was left denied that they had burned her and told him the girl's marks were cold sores which they had treated with lotion. Young said neighbors of the couple vouched for their character and said they knew nothing of injuries to the child.

But doctors said the wounds were indeed burns.

"I asked Ella what happened," Mrs. Willis said, "and she told me, 'Auntie did it to me when I cried.'"

The mother refused to file charges against the couple because "my husband's mother has been having a series of heart attacks, and this would just kill her."

Uniform Franchise Tax Plan Urged

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Municipal League today recommended that all cities adopt a uniform franchise tax on utilities based on four per cent of the utilities' income.

The league, in the final business session of its annual convention here, also voted to form a committee to draft a proposed constitutional home rule amendment to give cities more power of self-government.

In the resolution dealing with government.

In the resolution dealing with franchise taxes, the organization noted that Southwest Bell Telephone Co. is asking the Arkansas Public Service Commission to limit its franchise taxes to 1.63 per cent of its income.

Declaring that the telephone company's proposal was too low, the league resolved to prepare proposed ordinances for a four per cent minimum which would be submitted to the cities for consideration.

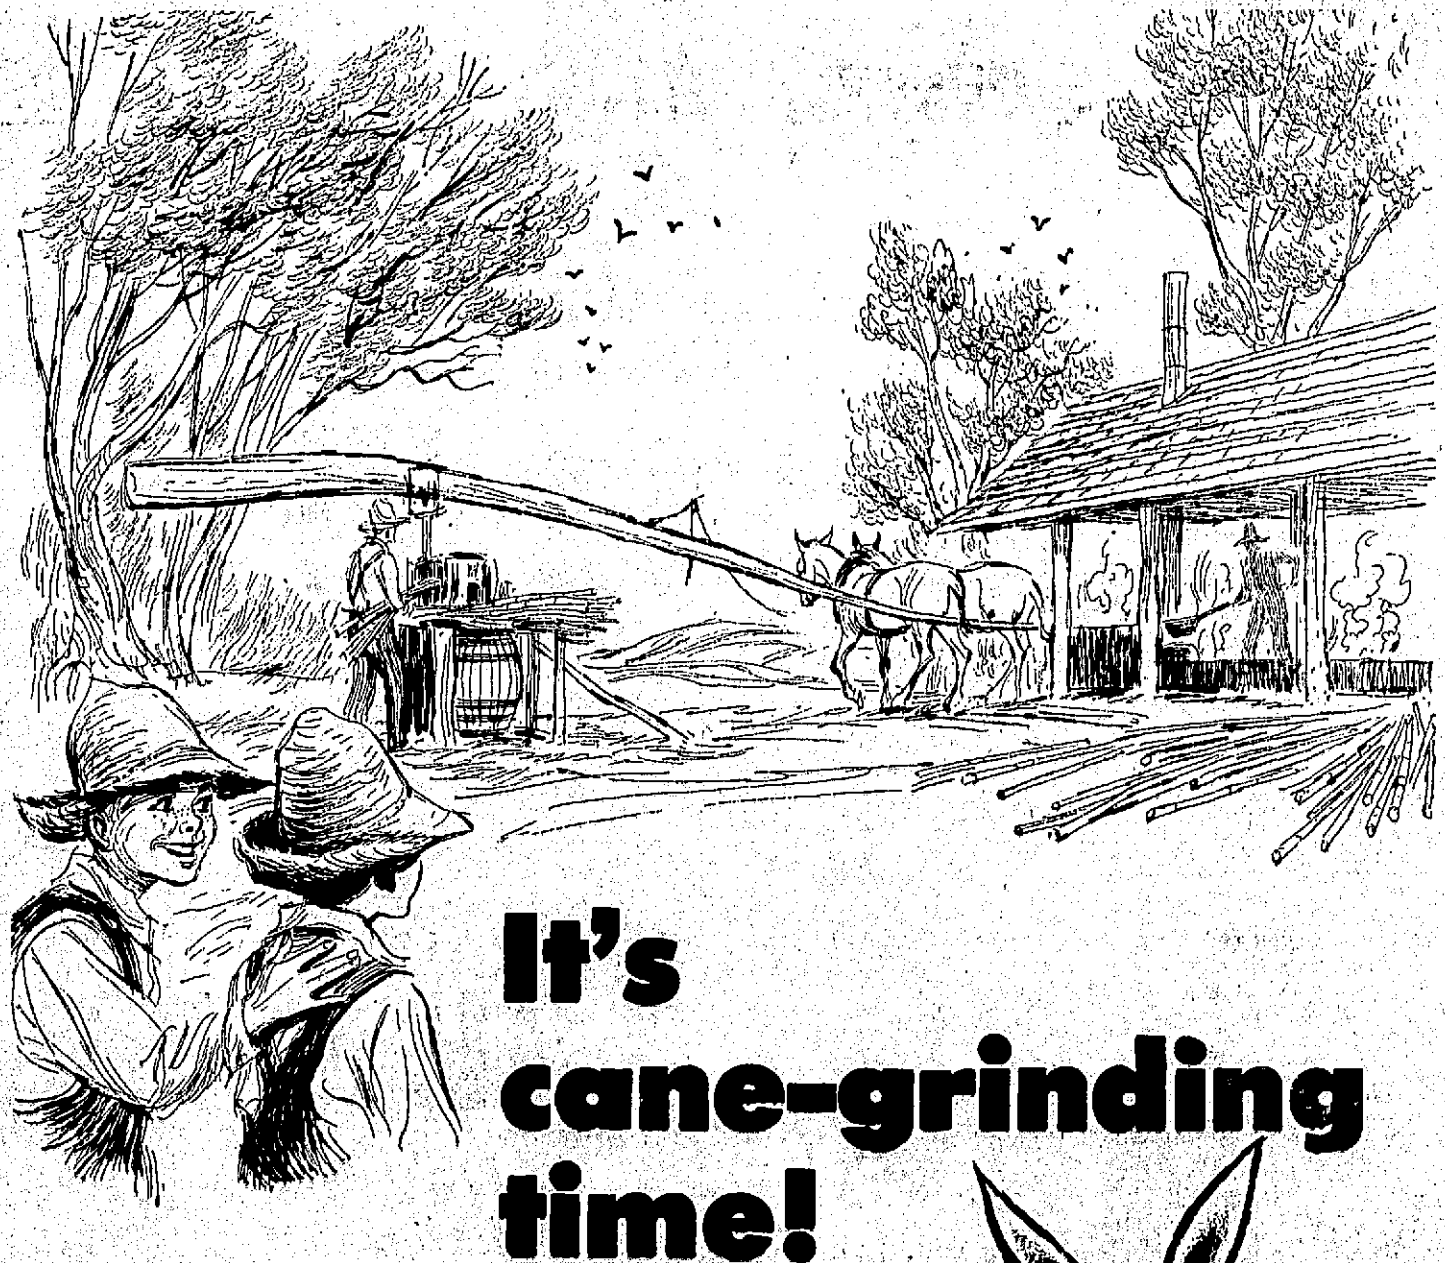

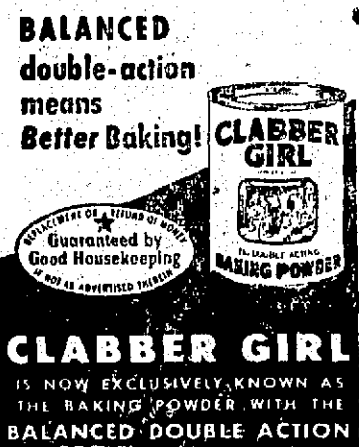

Oscithor Ben Butler was elected league president. Vice presidents named were Mayors Toler Buchanan of Blytheville, Vasca Cartet of Crossett, W. N. McKinney of El Dorado, Guy Conley of Paris and Ernest Bailey of Cabot. Alderman R. E. Pruitt of Osceola was elected secretary.

Esdaile, Wis., lies at the foot of an "S" shaped valley and is in a river delta. That is how the town got its name.

The Most Important thing about baking

It's the BALANCE of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven... That's the story of Clabber Girl's balanced double action... Better Baking everytime!

Actress Finds Her Jewelry

ANGELES CAMP, Calif. (AP) — Actress Rhonda Fleming got her jewelry back last night after it turned out the small aluminum suitcase wasn't lost but only misplaced.

She said the case held about $7,000 worth of cameo, she was to wear in a picture being made in this gold country area.

Someone had sent the aluminum case with camera equipment instead of with the baggage.

Indianapolis has both Bulgarian and Syrian language newspapers.

DOROTHY DIX

Stop, Mother, You're Not Fair to Daughter

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm faced with an acute case of parent trouble. I know what you're thinking; teen-agers all think they have it rough, but when you read this story I'm sure you'll agree I have a point.

Ever since I can remember my mother would not let me have friends. She says there are no real friends, that everyone is just out to get what she can. If I invite girls over, she insults them. When I go to my room to avoid an argument, she says I don't want to associate with the family. Dates with boys, of course, are absolutely out although I'm 15. I can't participate in school activities, or run for office. If I want to go to the movies she says the only thing I'm going for is to meet boys.

The girls I could have for friends are fine girls and Mum really has no cause for her suspicions. If I went to the guidance counselor at school I'd get the spanking of my life.

Dear Dahlia: Somewhere along the line fate must have dealt your mother a nasty blow. She's an inordinately suspicious person, with evil overtones. All you can do is abide by maternal orders until you are old enough to light out on your own. Be very careful that you don't fall into the same trap of mistrust. A misanthrope is always an unpopular person and deserves our pity more than our blame.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 19 years old and the mother of three children. Two months ago we moved into a housing project where I met and became friendly with a neighbor. Just recently she made a visit to her home town while she was gone her husband came over one evening while I was alone. He made improper advances to me and I finally got him to leave.

I told my husband what had happened and the man had violent words and my husband has said I can no longer be friends with the girl. When my neighbor came home, I told her. She said it wasn't the first time. Now, do you think my husband is right in not wanting us to continue our friendship if we do so during the day when the husbands aren't home?

Dear M. M. C.: You are so young and vulnerable, that I think you had better follow your husband's wishes. Certainly I wouldn't cut the girl dead — she has enough trouble, but don't continue on the same friendly plane.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is a perfectionist about housework; no matter how hard I try, my house cleaning does not satisfy him. Even when I do my best and think the place is immaculate, no finds something to blow up about. After ten years of these outbursts I can no longer take them.

Dear Rita: A mother of three children who can always keep an immaculate home, is a rarity. The only way she can do it is to make housework her obsession. When a man gets the bug, it's hopeless. Tell your exacting husband that you are doing the very best you know how, if it doesn't satisfy him there's always the Waldorf. There is no satisfying him, so don't try.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I like Rob very much and I'm sure he likes me, but for some reason he stopped calling and I haven't seen him for two months. When he meets my brother he always asks for me and wants to know if I'm going with someone else.

Dear E. W.: A happy solution to a problem like yours is to throw a party.

Congressman Visits in the Antarctic

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP) — The first U.S. congressman to set foot in the antarctic said today he would investigate reports that many Navy men here are being forced into debt by a Navy ruling.

Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa.), a member of the House Interior and Insular Affairs and Veterans Affairs committees, landed at the McMurdo Sound base from New Zealand with Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Saylor, a Navy veteran, said a ruling by the Navy comptroller's office had created a pay situation that apparently was in urgent need of correction.

Saylor recommended that the United States plan to continue operations in the antarctic after the International Geophysical Year ends Dec. 31, 1958.

Flu Blamed for Woman's Death

Mrs. Gwendolyn Gray of Sedgewick died in Jonesboro Hospital last night. She had been hospitalized three days.

Dr. Paul Stroud of Jonesboro said the woman became ill with flu, and it developed into pneumonia. She is survived by her husband, Edward, a farmer, and one daughter.

Jordan Asks End to Attack of Hussein

By WALTER LOGAN
UP Staff Correspondent

Jordan appealed to the Arab world today to end the campaign of hostility against King Hussein, but the Egyptian press and radio attacks were more heated than ever.

One Cairo Radio broadcast said it would be impossible for Hussein to keep his throne "in the face of the people's revolt against him." It again accused him of plotting with Israel and the United States.

The Cairo newspaper Al Shabab said today Hussein had transferred two million dollars abroad, presumably as a reserve if he were forced to flee from Jordan. Other newspapers said he had been offered 20 million by the United States to create Arab dissension and that he had received three million from the U. S. embassy in Amman to strengthen his forces.

The growing propaganda campaign was causing grave concern in London and diplomatic resources said the top could blow off the Jordan powder keg at any time.

However, Washington reports said the State Department was not that gravely concerned and believed the crisis was an artificial one created by Egypt the way the Tureco-Syrian crisis was created by Russia.

Jordan's Parliamentary speaker Mustafa Khalifeh telegraphed the kings and heads of state throughout the Arab world asking them to "put an end to these acts which are poisoning the Arab atmosphere."

Most of the Egyptian broadcasts were designed to inflame the Palestinian refugees against Jordan, and one broadcast said Queen Zein actually ruled Jordan — a move that might annoy other Arabs as well since woman's role is purely secondary in the Arab world.

The Missouri and Mississippi Rivers meet about nine miles above St. Louis.

Dr. Paul Stroud of Jonesboro said the woman became ill with flu, and it developed into pneumonia. She is survived by her husband, Edward, a farmer, and one daughter.

CHAPTER XXXIII

Dave stepped into the space between buildings facing the road way. He saw Morgan in the moon light. Morgan's face was pulled in a savage grin. His eyes were bulging like twin points of steel which Dave watched for a moment before his hand started in motion. In that hush a shot cracked unexpectedly upblock its reverberations rocking back and forth from the false fronts. The ball struck Dave and he felt himself hurled downward as from the kick of a horse.

His shoulders struck the outside stairway of Quinn's saloon, his hand tugging his gun from its holster. Across the road Morgan had portway turned his head and was cursing Gallo. But only for an instant.

Dave hoisted his gun, firing twice. He knew as his hammer dropped that the numbness of his arm had destroyed his aim. With his second shot he threw himself away from the stairway and beneath Quinn's gallery, firing again at Morgan and this time seeing the slim gunman falter. Then Morgan stepped back, opaque blackness folding him in.

Another gun had opened against Gallo, the hard, beating blast filling the upper end of town. Ferris bent low, was moving in against Gallo's position. But Gallo was apparently firing from behind the safety of a wellselected post and his bullets kept searching Dave in a shrewdly placed pattern.

Dave continued to peer into the blackness then finally lunged into Quinn's entrance. An annoying stream of blood was trickling from his sleeve. Three customers at the bar were standing well away from the street wall staring at him.

Raoul Quinn was leaning on his counter, the earlier antagonism gone from his expression. From the corner of his mouth he called, "Jord fetch a cloth. We'll patch Sharadin's arm."

"You're sure about taking sides in this?" Dave asked.

Quinn swung his full stare around to Dave, a hard and bit terrified enjoyment entering his face. "It's Morgan out there, ain't it?"

"Yes," Dave said.

"I knew him in Virginia City, Mont." Quinn's eyes drilled at Dave as mentally he recalled the days on another gold strike. "One of Henry Plummer's gunmen — the sheriff was crooked but we didn't know it at first. Conches always being held up when they were carrying miners — a trail of dead men running up and down the gulches, fellows with dust hidden in their cabins. Then we got to figurin' somebody had always been talkin' with lummer before it happened. He'd send his butchers out to do the work. After the gang was busted a lot of them rode off that should have danced from the scaffold. Morgan was one."

Quinn was at work over Dave's arm. The bullet had torn through the fleshy muscle without hitting the bone, making a bloody but not a dangerous wound. The firing had ceased on the street and they heard a horse, hard driven, behind the buildings opposite. It could have been either Morgan or Gallo they didn't know. Dave, thinking this might mean that Ferris was down somewhere on the street, pulled against Quinn's restraining hands. But Quinn held him, his broad face thoughtful as he worked on Dave's arm.

"You get a hitch on your crew and a lot of Wolf Creekers are going to feel different about Block S. Get rid of Morgan and Gallo and Kains — maybe some others," Quinn said.

"The hobbles will be slipped on them," Dave smiled wearily. "But there's still Bray's camp to take into account."

A miner unlatched the saloon's rear door and tried to slip out side. He had taken his share of

Manned Space Ship Planned by the U. S.

By JOHN A. HARRIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—An Air Force general says the United States already is doing some preliminary thinking about a manned space ship — although such a project is still a long way off.

General H. F. Gregory, commander of the Air Force Office of Scientific Research, said in a speech yesterday: "Although it may be somewhat early to be building manned space ships, it is not too early to be thinking about exploratory research in this area."

"In fact we have been doing it for some time."

Gregory described the Air Force project as a recent series of rocket tests, as "one of many high-altitude scientific research efforts that will be required for the successful conquest of space."

The Air Force has said previously that six rockets were fired in the Fairside tests in the Pacific and there have been unofficial reports that the sixth shot went more than 4,000 miles into the sky.

Gregory said there was no foundation for reports that Fairside personnel had been pressured to speed up the project as a result of Russia's first satellite launching Oct. 4.

It was that event which touched off a general clamor for accelerating the U. S. missile and satellite programs. The second Soviet satellite, one carrying a dog was launched in space Nov. 10.

Former President Harry Truman, in Washington to attend a luncheon in his honor, told newsmen: "We had a missile program before I left the White House — it was broken up after I left."

He said the program was devoted primarily to research from 1940-51 and that it was headed by K. T. Keller, former Chrysler Corp., president who later left government service.

"Somebody ought to institute a specific policy and see that it is carried out," he said.

But about the same time, Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) issued a statement saying the Truman administration must be blamed "for our lag behind the Russians in the ballistic missile field."

"The record of the Truman administration on missiles reveals a monstrous neglect bordering on the criminal," Bennett said.

"The Truman legacy was so deplorable, that the Eisenhower administration had to start virtually from scratch to begin to catch up with the Russians."

There was one indication that government purse strings may have been loosened somewhat for missile development.

At El Paso, Tex., the Corps of Engineers said it will seek bids soon for building new facilities at McGregor range where Ft. Bliss does guided missile work. A spokesman said the money "is now available," but did not indicate when it was made available.

Moscow reported last night that Sputnik II would complete its 130th orbit of the earth at 6 a. m. today, but it gave no information on what had happened to the dog riding in the satellite.

Tass news agency also said that by this morning, Sputnik I would have circled the earth 591 times, and that its carrier rocket would have made 595 revolutions.

A radio Moscow, meanwhile, predicted that the first satellite would drop into the atmosphere and burn in late December or early January, and that the carrier rocket would come down somewhat sooner.

"Sputnik II will remain in orbit considerably longer," the radio said, quoting the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

Saffron is the most expensive of spices used in cookery today. Its price is about $58 a pound.

Sharadin beef and wanted no part in the fight he had helped start in the Padres. There was a shot and the miner slammed it closed. He faced about, pale to the hair line. "Rider out back with his horse. He's trying to set fire to the rear!"

A rifle cradled from the second story. Another down the block set up a banging racket. Again Dave felt the urge to be outside. He didn't want Ferris fighting with out him. But Quinn's hands held him back. Once again he heard the beat of a horseman. The shooting from upstairs had driven off the man setting his fire to the rear wall. Quinn yelled again to the back of his saloon, "Take a look at that fire!"

The report of one rifle had come from the room Sherry had occupied. Dave's glance, drifted curiously upward. "That Browne fellow," Quinn explained. "Moved in with his wife and kid this morning. Ought to stay out of a mess like this."

A sudden trampling of boots sounded beneath the outside gallery. Then Ferris' voice: "Dave, you in here?"

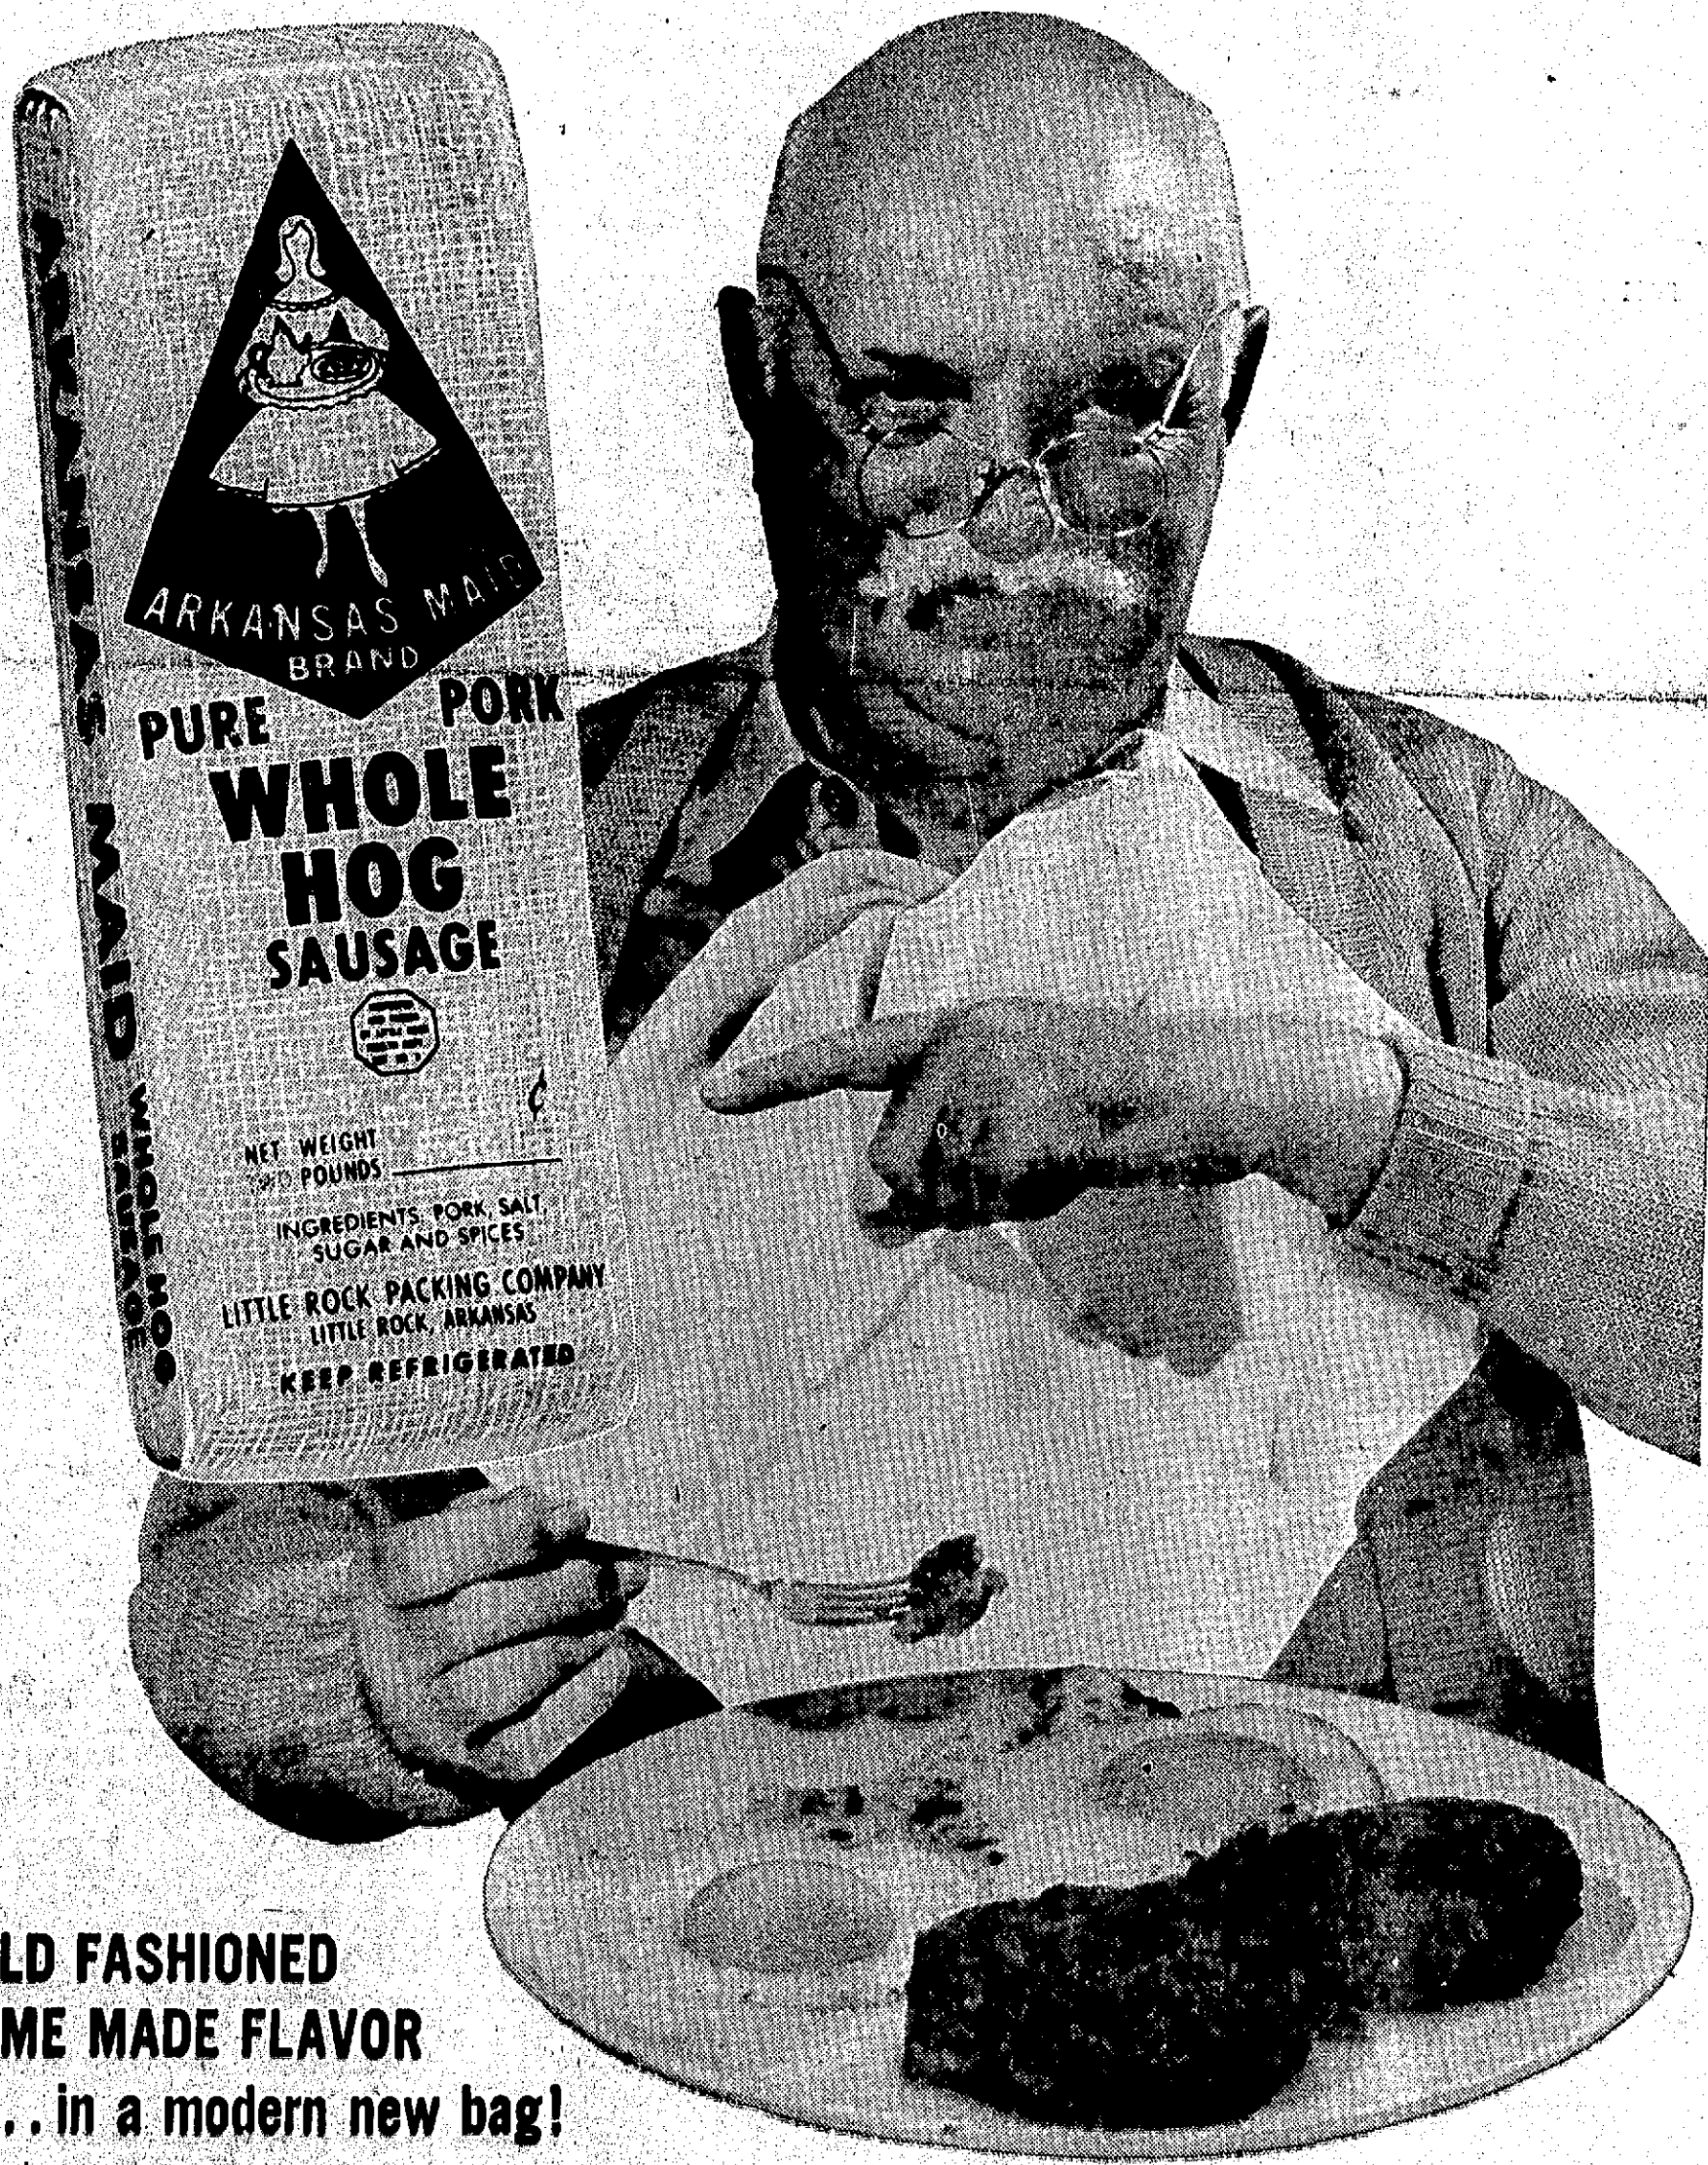

The arm was bandaged now. Dave swung his jacket over a shoulder and stepped to the door. His pistol was still in his hand. Ferris stood beneath the overhang scowling into the pitch black shadows that clung in the opposite alleyways. He murmured, "Stubborn. Slipped one over on me somehow. I don't rightly know they're hid. Morgan's horse is gone."

"Back of the saloon. He tried to set fire to Quinn's."

Would Add Nuclear Subs to NATO Navy

By STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS (AP)—NATO's naval commander, U. S. Adm. Jerauld Wright, today urged that U.S. nuclear secrecy be modified to help equip all NATO navies with atomic submarines.

The admiral told the Atlantic Alliance's Advisory Assembly that the U.S. Navy's A-1 submarines should be given top priority.

He added that NATO countries could equip themselves without receiving U. S. built subs if Congress would amend the McMahon Act to make more nuclear know-how available.

Wright told a closed session of the Assembly that the Soviet Union's submarine fleet is three times as big as that of the United States and Allies combined.

The Russians are known to have about 500 submarines and the number is increasing by 75 to 100 a year.

Both Truman and Ike Were Asleep

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman and Eisenhower administrations both fell asleep. They were shocked awake by a war and a Sputnik.

It is not clear whether President Truman ever fully understood—or that President Eisenhower does now—the threat from Russian progress in missiles, satellites and science.

The Russians have out-tripped this country in satellites, probably in intercontinental missiles, and in now is the try to knock out Soviet subs if there is a war, Wright said.

The admiral was the last of NATO's top military men to brief 170 congressmen and Parliament members from the 15 NATO countries.

emphasis on training scientists and engineers. Why?

No one has pointed the finger more sharply than Werner von Braun.

As a German he helped develop the Nazi V2 rocket against Britain in World War II. Now, as an American citizen, he is one of this country's top missile experts.

He says:

"This country had no ballistic missiles program worth mentioning between 1945 and 1951, or until one year after the Korean War started this country into realization of Russia's military intentions."

Elliott von Braun indirectly also blames the Eisenhower administration for the present lag by saying we did not work hard enough on missiles "during the first 6 to 10 years" after World War II.

That puts the date—when this country began to push its missile program hardest—at 1955, or two years after Eisenhower took office.

Those were 10 years in which the Russians, judging from the results now appearing, laid the groundwork for their missile and satellite development.

Years from now it may seem unbelievable that Eisenhower could say—as he did in his Thursday night broadcast—that until now he had been getting top scientific advice instead of having it organized.

Now he's setting out to organize it by appointing President James R. Killian of Massachusetts Institute of Technology as his special assistant to coordinate an American scientific defense effort.

Eisenhower, who appeared very calm over the first Russian Sputnik, took this action after the second Sputnik went up, a month later. But just how much Killian's appointment means remains to be seen.

Unless he has real power—and it is not clear that he has—he may be bypassed or undercut by heads of government agencies and projects.

Eisenhower makes another speech in Oklahoma City Wednesday.

Faubus Denies Interest in a New Party

By ADREN COOPER

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus has squelched speculation that he might lead a Southern revolt against the Democratic Party.

Faubus, a key figure in the racial crisis here, last night appealed for funds to aid the Democratic Party and said that he had given no indication that he would "encourage or have any connection with" a third party.

In a fund-raising speech over Arkansas television and radio stations, the governor said:

"I am interested now in the No. 1 party, the first party of Arkansas, and that is the Democratic Party."

He devoted most of his speech to a scathing attack on Eisenhower administration policies—ranging from Civil Rights to natural gas.

He also accused the Arkansas Gazette of "attempting to place me at the head of what it terms a 'third party.'" The Gazette has opposed Faubus' actions in the Little Rock Central High racial dispute in strongly worded editorials.

Faubus, apparently completely recovered from a mild cold which kept him in bed yesterday morning, said:

"In New Orleans yesterday with me were George Douthett, a reporter for the Arkansas Democrat; Arnold Sikes, my executive secretary; State Trooper Lloyd Weaver, and our pilot. Some of them were with me constantly and heard all of my statements, both public and private."

"None of them heard any such statement because I made no such statement."

"I did say that the possibility of another party, or third party, could not be ruled out. There was no inference or indication that I would encourage or have any connection with any such movement."

In an interview before Faubus' Veterans Day speech at New Orleans Monday, an Associated Press writer quoted the governor as saying he would not "rule out the possibility" of heading a third party ticket.

In an article carrying Douthett's byline, the Democrat said yesterday:

"A few hours prior to this discussion the Arkansas governor said he would not rule out the possibility that he might lead the organization of a third party."

Faubus said in his address that the Republicans had "broken promises on numerous issues."

On Civil Rights, he said that Eisenhower in campaign speeches in the South had advocated "an attitude of fairness and tolerance, patience and understanding."

"The candidate and now president said time and again that he could envision no situation where federal troops would be used in the South or in any other part of the nation in the matter of civil rights," Faubus said. "Also, his former attorney general, Herbert Brownell threatened to walk out of a Senate committee hearing if the members even inferred that the national Republican administration would even consider the action of using federal troops."

Faubus made no other references to the Little Rock Central High situation, where federal troops have been enforcing racial integration for about six weeks.

Faubus also charged that the Republican administration had broken promises on 100 per cent parity price support on farm products, the Dixon-Yates plant, reduction of the cost of government and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

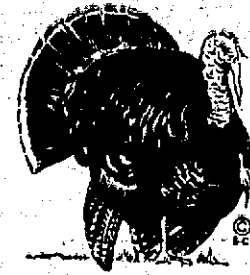

In an interview after his address, Faubus again said that he would not lead a third party movement.

"I said that there is a lot of sentiment for a third party," he said, "but I did not say I would lead it. I have fought this thing out for several weeks. I have been asked the question many times and I have never said that I would lead a third party movement."

"As strong as the Democratic Party is in the South it would be foolish to abandon what has been built up—the party machinery—our natural assets."

Plans Abandoned to Remodel Building

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Federal officials yesterday gave their approval to remodeling plans for the Little Rock Municipal Airport Administration Building.

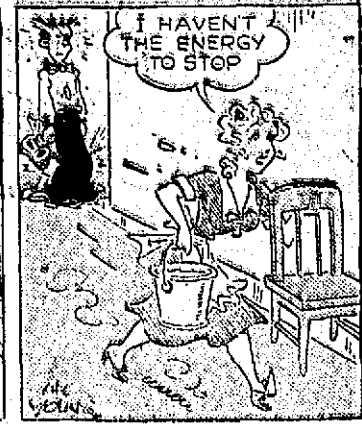

The Little Rock Airport Commission said bids would be opened Dec. 10 in the project, expected to cost $125,000. Approval from the Federal Civil Aeronautics Administration was necessary because more rest rooms, a larger restaurant and more ticket and baggage space. The building will also be air conditioned.

day night. He is expected to talk about a new program to develop American scientists and engineers perhaps with government help, in order to keep up with or surpass Russian production in those fields.

But the fact that the Russians for years have put tremendous effort into training scientists and engineers, and that we haven't been doing it, can hardly be considered new.

There's just been delay in waking up to it or doing something about it.
